

The story of the classes

These pure, therapeutic-grade healing oils have become our modern-day folk medicine. Many like me began with one bottle of oil: for me, Lavender. And as we use them in our homes with families and pets, we discover more uses for them...and we're excited to share. There are also some who have been using the oils longer and have become mentors. And with more of us using the oils, the groups and the opportunities to learn and connect have sprung up in many area communities. Whether you're a seasoned 'oiler' or new to the oils, you are welcome to learn with us.
