

LOVE-YOUR-LIFE ...

Confidence and Credibility

You're great! You KNOW it. And it shows! Right?!

Or not so much?

Confidence is important

... how much confidence you have affects every aspect of your life, including:

- Who your friends and mate are and how they treat you
- How healthy you are
- How you perform in school or at work
- What job/career choices you make and what success you experience in those choices
- What kind of parent, spouse, friend, boss, or employee you are
- How you handle money
- How balanced your life is
- How you handle life's inevitable disappointments, difficulties, and crises
- How much you are able to give freely, happily, respectfully to others and receive back the same.

Marjorie Hansen Shaevitz

And confidence is a skill that can be learned.

Would you like to be Confident and Credible when you speak?

You'll learn how here.
